

Tommy Inglesby

Director

MANAGING DIRECTOR – UPSTREAM AND OFES

Accenture

Tommy Inglesby is currently a Managing Director in the Houston office of Accenture, focused on Oil Field Equipment and Services and Upstream.

Tommy has worked with oilfield services & equipment providers, majors, independents and midstream pipeline companies on M&A, strategy, and operations. Before joining Accenture, Tommy was responsible for Strategy, Marketing and M&A for Halliburton's Drilling and Evaluation Division. At Cobalt, Tommy worked as head of Strategy and Finance and oversaw Investor Relations, business planning and strategy. Prior to Cobalt, Tommy worked at McKinsey & Company for 13 years and was a Partner in McKinsey's Houston office. He founded and led McKinsey's Global Unconventional Oil & Gas and North American Natural Gas services lines.

Tommy received his B.A. with High Honors from Dartmouth College in Ancient Greek History.